Section K : Comprehension (10 marks)

Read passages A and B carefully and answer questions 51 to 57.

Passage A

Space Rockets

Space rockets put men on the Moon and launched satellites that sent back dramatic pictures of Earth. They gave people an understanding of the Universe that they could never have gained from normal telescopes.

Who invented space rockets?

Chinese inventors made rockets possible when they invented gunpowder. The first rockets were actually firework missiles used by the Chinese to defend the city of Kaifeng against a Mongolian invasion. Today, rockets are still the cheapest way of putting satellites into space.

How rockets work

It is a common mistake to think that rockets work by "pushing back against the air". There is no air in space to push against. Space is literally that: empty space! How, then, do rockets work?

Like jet airplanes, space rockets work on a principle called action and reaction. The massive force (action) generated by hot gases firing backward from a rocket's engines produces an equal force (reaction) that pushes the rocket forward through space. The great force enables the rocket to escape Earth's gravity.

Based on Passage A, answer questions 51 to 53.

51. In the first paragraph, what does 'They' in bold refer to? [1m]

52. Explain how the first rockets were used. [2m]

Passage B

“Oh no,” Ben thought with a sinking feeling in his stomach. “We’ve been walking around in circles for the last hour.” He recognised the funny-shaped rock that stood before him.

Ben, Amin and Varun were hiking on St John’s Island. They had decided to explore an interesting but narrow dirt track. The track had led them into a forest and then it disappeared altogether. After two hours, the boys’ initial excitement wore off.

Not wanting to give up, the boys studied the map again. The jetty was just a few kilometres to the east of the forest. They had been walking towards the east but were still unable to find their way out. It was then that Amin discovered that the compass – the only one they had – was faulty as the compass needle was pointing in random directions as he was trying to point the compass towards the East.

“No wonder we’ve been walking around in circles!” exclaimed Varun. The boys were confused as to what they should do next to get out of their predicament. They were completely exhausted.

All of a sudden, a low rumbling sound broke the silence. It took the boys a few minutes to realise what it was. “It’s a vehicle!” Ben shouted excitedly as he jumped to his feet in a hurry. “Quick! We’ve got to make sure that we catch that vehicle!”

As quick as lightning, the boys grabbed their backpacks and rushed in the direction of the rumbling sound. As they emerged from the forest, a wave of relief swept over them as they saw a green army truck in the clearing.

Based on Passage B, answer questions 54 to 57.

54. In paragraph 1, what made Ben realise that they had been “walking around in circles”? (1m)

55. Refer to paragraph 3 and 4. Find a word which has a similar meaning as the following: [2m]

not working tired

56. Based on the passage, how did the boys feel at each of the following event in the story? (2m)

Event in the story	Boys' feelings
(i) The boys discovered that the only compass they had was faulty.
(ii) The boys heard the rumbling sound of a vehicle.

57. How do you think the boys got out of the forest? (1m)
